

Part 1. Develop information security awareness and training program content that would have helped Nancy Johnson and other similarly situated employees more cognizant of the US Bancorp policies involved in this case.

Part 2. Develop information security awareness and training program content that would have helped Scott Moulton understand the importance of establishing rules of engagement for probing networks connected to his clients.

Part 3. Develop information security awareness and training program content that would have given Dewey Watkins a constructive means to address his security violation concerns.